

Face the Day

Threat Signal

Breathe me new life, I want nothing but strength
Take what is mine, here's my message to you

I will stay, I will not go, I'll wake from this nightmare and take back control

Break all of my bones, drag me through hell but I still have my soul

I own my soul

A change from weak to the wise
Alive and vigil from paralyzed
I will not die within
Face the day

Break from the chains that have bound me for years
See past the lies, you're the fucking disease

You're the fucking disease

I will stay, I will not go, I'll wake from this nightmare and take back control

Break all of my bones, drag me through hell but I still have my soul

I own my soul

A change from weak to the wise
Alive and vigil from paralyzed
I will not die within
Face the day

Stand up and fight some more

We must hold on, we all must be strong to end this fight
We can't be scared, we all must prepare to see the light

I never chose to live in fear
But I will never hide my face and I will never run away
I choose to face the day