

I'm running circles around my illusive head
Looking for an answer, a reason
I'm trying to figure out who is alive or dead
Is it me or is it everyone else instead?

Take a picture remember what I have said
Its in your mind don't ever deny

As I look into your eyes, I fear we are so blind
We're lost till the end of time

Never wanted to hear what they say
Never wanted to believe them anyway
My vision, this is my own

I'm looking for an answer I can't understand Getting lost within myself
The human mind can never see or comprehend
If there is meaning to life after death

As I look into your eyes, I feel we are so blind
We're lost till the end of time
As I look beyond the sky, I see another life
We're lost till the end of time

We can be confused and question the life we ensue
I cannot describe this feeling I hold deep inside

What is there after life? Is this what we call life? How can we be so blind?
What if this is our lives? The pain we hold inside, in death we all will die

If it's our only life, don't waste all of your time, live life before you die
