

Nostalgia

Threat Signal

Think about this life You've created
Would You trade it all to start again?
NO

I've always dreamed about where I could be
What the future would have in store
I'll never forget, who I am. Where I'm from Change for me is not changing at all

Look beyond everything we know
Think back when it all began
Remember the times we had
The world was so much smaller then

Remember the days
Before we greed set in
Why did we change?
Who taught us how to live?

I never wanted to be just like you
Another zombie, breeding machine
Another slave, to the game, Your insane
Live Your life like You want to

Look beyond everything we know
Think back when it all began
Remember the times
When our lives were so simple

It's just a feeling I can't deny
My need to satisfy the urge from the inside
My mind has never changed,
I've always known what I've wanted
Tomorrow will always be the same

Love is more important than what You own

The tears in Your eyes reflect the fear that's instilled in You
The fear in Your heart depicts the pain that was forced in You

Remember love