

Drown

Three Days Grace

Good morning day, sorry I'm not there
But all my favorite friends vanished in the air
It's hard to fly when you can't even run
Once I had the world, but now I've got no one

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to hold me down
I would change my direction
And save myself before I

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to push me around
I would change my direction
And save myself before I drown, drown

Good morning day, sorry you're not here
All those times before we're never this unclear
It's hard to walk when you can't even crawl
Once I had this world, now I've lost it all

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to hold me down
I would change my direction
And save myself before I

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to push me around
I would change my direction
And save myself before I drown

Rolling faster than I'm breathing, drown
Rolling faster than I'm breathing, drown
Rolling faster than I'm breathing

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to hold me down
I would change my direction
And save myself before I

If I needed someone to control me
If I needed someone to push me around
I would change my direction
And save myself before I

Save myself before I drown
Save myself before I drown
Save myself before I drown
