

It's All Over

Three Days Grace

Your bottle's almost empty
You know this can't go on
Because of you
My mind is always racing

The needles' breaking your skin
The scar is sinking in
And now your trip begins
But it's all over for, it's all over

For you, for you
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over for you, for you
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over

I know what runs through your blood
You do this all in vain
Because of you
My mind is always racing

And it gets under my skin
To see you giving it
And now your trip begins
But it's all over for, it's all over

For you, for you
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over for you, for you
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over

And now you're dead inside
Still you wonder why
It's all over
And now you're dead inside
Still you wonder why
It's all over

And now you're dead inside
Still you wonder why
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over for
(You, for you)

And now you're dead inside
Still you wonder why
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over for
(You, for you)

And now you're dead inside
Still you wonder why
It's all over
