MY IMPERSONAL LIFE

By: T. Furlong

From the Album: Harmony

Released 1971-Track 2

There is a feeling that I'm floating
On a calm sea before the storm.
I am restless now and so uneasy
And my sun-bleached sails hang limp and torn.
I have wait now, oh, for a long, long time
For the warm breeze to move my life
I t feels closer now as I get older
I feel the warm winds come and move me to the other side
Yes I do, yes I do.
Be still and know that everything's all right
Be sure and go when every steps in stride
Be still and know, be very, very wise
Be sure and go when you know time is right
Now there is a warm breeze, Lord, that has shown it self
And I've rigged the sail best that I can
I have faith in him, Lord, I have faith in me
I have drifted for as long as I can
Yes I have, yes I have
Be still and know that everything's all right
Be sure and go when every steps in stride
Be still and know, don't ever get up tight
Be sure and go when you know time is right
(Guitar solo)
Be still and know that everything's all right
Be sure and go when every steps in stride
Be still and know, don't ever get up tight
Be sure and go when you know time is right
Know that everything's all right
Go when every steps in stride
Know, be very, very wise
And go when the time is right
Know that everything's all right
And go when every steps in stride
Know, be very, very wise
Go when time is right
