

Ascension

Three Years Hollow

i wouldn't touch you without a reason you never take me unless i try our lie is over before it's begun you know we both would die, it's suicide now i know i've been walking down the wrong road i will survive and i'm slowly fading away to the only place i will survive this all another step in the wrong direction another taken too far this decide how much longer can you fight temptation is it enough to try, enough to take side i can take away your pain slowly open your eyes one last time can you show me how you make things in your life hold on for nothing at all

[chorus]