

Weekend Apologies

Thriving Ivory

I don't wanna know what they said about what you did
last night
on the town you had a little too much to drink and i promised myself that i wouldn't catch you if i could and leave it all on a Grey ending new beginning and i hope it goes away and she closes her eyes and says

one more drink
to ease the pain
just to get it off my mind and i apologize before i drink tonight, before I drink tonight it was about a year ago this time when things were looking good got caught in the moment and i didn't look too far ahead but its not unusual for someone like yourself to cross the line and i caused so much fucked up shit and took what you had known it was about a month ago you got a little out of hand and i saw it coming this time but i was tangled up in grace and i don't wanna know what they said

on the town and you had a little too much to drink and she closes her eyes, and she says one more drink to ease the pain

and i apologize before i drink tonight before i drink tonight

and i apologize and she closes her eyes and she says one more drink to ease the pain just to get it off my mind

its calling out for you its calling out for me
for this lonely drink i apologize tonight
