Throes Of Dawn

I lost you to the distance
I sealed myself away
For nothing you said
Could touch me anyway

There was something you said
Can't remember your words
Something about dismay
Didn't know what to say

I lost your voice
In the vacuum of a moment
I saw you walk down
Into the black hungry waves

There was something you said
Can't remember your words
Something about dismay
Didn't know what to say

Your bridal gown
Lies under the moss
I wear my guilt
The crown of my shame

There was something you said
Can't remember your words
Something about dismay
Didn't know what to say

I took all the pills
You are no longer here
The walls are falling
The world slipping away
