

Fire To Ice

Thunder

Waking up I tried to stumble out of bed
My body ached, I wasn't sure if I was dead
I had a hammer in my brain, nearly driving me insane
Guess I'm a fool trying to drink you out of my head

'Cause in times gone before I knew you would call
But this time I don't know
When that look in your eyes turned from fire to ice
I knew then I'd done enough to make you go

I gotta leave that bottle alone
'Cause love turned from fire to ice
I'm a lonely man
Whose life just slipped right through his hands
So baby please come home

Not a word passed your lips when you walked out
I knew you'd taken enough it wasn't hard to work out
I'd never put the blame on you, 'cause you did all that you could do
I'm trying to fight it myself but I don't know how

Somewhere deep inside my mind, I know I can find
The strength that it's gonna take
If it's do it or die, I know I can try
If not for you then at least for my own sake

I gotta leave that bottle alone
'Cause love turned from fire to ice
I'm a lonely man
Whose life just slipped right through his hands
So baby please come home

Somewhere deep inside my mind, I know I can find
The strength that it's gonna take
If it's do it or die, I know I can try
If not for you then for my own sake

I gotta leave that bottle alone
'Cause love turned from fire to ice
I'm a lonely man
Whose life just slipped right through his hands
My life just slipped right through my hands
So baby please come home