Let the Demons Free

Thunderstone

I have become endlessly numb, I don't know myself anymore Things I have done always on the run, I can see myself in deep fall Within or without but never allowed to be first in line in this life Pushed to the limit the edge I have seen it, I'm loosing my wil 1 All these years and all these days of my life I've been blind and never saw through the lies Now it's time, time to unchain my heart Release myself and to be me Let the demons free There's one life to live and so much to give, too much wasted m oments Hear my cry out, hear it so loud, I am stronger faster and comi ng through Now this has to stop, I'll fight 'till I drop, for the dreams I feel I'm alive again No more concession, it's time for a confession I'll let my demo ns free All these years and all these days of my life I've been blind and never saw through the lies Now it's time, time to unchain my heart Release myself and to be me Let the demons free

All these years and all these days of my life I've been blind and never saw through the lies Now it's time, time to unchain my heart Release myself and to be me Let the demons free