Thunderstone

Lying on the floor, I feel nothing Trying to remember Everything is a haze, yesterday is gone Feels like I've been hypnotized Will this be the last time? I wonder will I ever learn? Still searching for the rhyme Maybe now it's time for me to turn I rise, I fall I always stand before I crawl I smile, I rule But who am I really trying to fool? I'm on the spire Reaching up to the sky, high above I'm on the spire And it's on fire, I'm going down below Another day, another year And the wheel keeps on spinning Another joy, another fear I believe some day I'll be winning I rise, I fall I always stand before I crawl I smile, I rule But who am I really trying to fool? I'm on the spire Reaching up to the sky, high above I'm on the spire And it's on fire, I'm going down below Every time I swear this will be the last time Every time I crash to the ground Every time I'm standing on the spire I fall, but come around I rise, I fall I always stand before I crawl I smile, I rule But who am I really trying to fool? I'm on the spire Reaching up to the sky, high above I'm on the spire And it's on fire, I'm going down below I rise, I fall I always stand before I crawl I smile, I rule But who am I really trying to fool?