Tin Star Man

Thunderstone

Land of the free, home of the brave A history of heroes in my name One truth under God I feel I am stranded In a world covered in dark

A shield against evil, I light the spark I can feel it in my blood I carry on my sacred ride Across the seas and the great divide

I will save you, even if you don't want me to My electric eye will always find you I'm the one, me, myself and I Feel the thunder when I light up the sky

No one can stop me now It's already begun I'm the Tin Star Man

It's a thin line between good and bad But knowing I'm right keeps me on the track Righteous and clean

I have the power, I have the force To bring down my foes and to lead my cause The light shines on me
