

Between Rupture and Rapture

Thursday

in the veins of the ultraviolet light, the phosphor is starting a fire shooting up in the iodine; its turning on (rupture) rupture the wall around my heart

i feel so lost,
i've been shaking. you can't save me (forget what the doctor said) every bird in mid-flight is calling out your name before it hits the window and it sings the rapture without a second opinion the chemicals saturate to counteract the code through the double-helix we are twisting (too scared to let this go) someone call the head nurse she's coming to the capitol to wrap us up and throw us in the dirt, with a dream thats turning of f

(rupture) rupture the wall around my heart
i feel so lost,
(forget what the doctor said)

we're coming to the capitol (2x) the distance between us will rupture (coming to the capitol)
in our hearts the disease won't touch us

(love), now its too late (love), to turn this off alone is all we are even when we feel this close it's just a lie we believe these are the words that escape from our lungs, rupture the wall i've built around my heart i've been shaking you can't save me i'm turning off we can't find a way out of this moment were lost in a dark hallway
