

Legacy Of Saints In Disguise

Thyrane

One consumed the enlightenment from the ground
Others created sensation from mind unbound
Sane turned to saint in delusion
Tuned in with mass hypnosis
Light speed divinity rises from the soil
A religious junkie is here to fed
With instruments like nail and hammer
Transcendent race arrived to the threshold of insanity
Step in with the keys to profound gods
Kneel down to lick the feet of the fooled
Swallow the wafer with love you swine
As one shot for glory, two for the show
Legacy of saints in disguise
With sinister laughter and dolphin's tongue
Drop out from this paradoxical sleep
To a slumber where to see the identity of opposites
Then make a u-turn in the circle and fear
There's a man on the cross
Tell all there's a sign on the cross
Invite them to stone the pest down
For the sake of doctrines to not to come true