

Just Something To Say

Tiffany Evans

I'm hissin' to drive all the tears
You made me cry last night
You don't understand what you're doin' to me
Waitin' on that call,
You to say that you're ready to be in my life
All it takes is for you to call and say that you love me
I don't need to fly what's can, the things that you came by, ba by
All I ever wanted was for you to come and say
Say that you love me

Say that you love me, you could have loved me today
You can hang right above me, tuggle and love me
Say that you're missin' me
Say you're pickin' up just something to say
Just something to say, oh
Just something to say, today, say that you love me

Trying to understand why give in to you
In return I get the blues over you
But I've been crying for so long
I don't know why I've been so stressed
And I just keep holdin' on, it's the same ol' feelin'
You're sinkin' under my skin, tearin' me piece by piece apart
And it won't neva stop
Or I'll bless the day that you'll come and say
You really love me

Say that you love me, you could have loved me today
You can hang right above me, tuggle and love me
Say that you're missin' me
Say you're pickin' up just something to say
Just something to say, oh
Just something to say, today, say that you love me
