So Demure

Let this hurricane of defence Welcome you with open arms so dense Do you ever contemplate? Whatever happened to your fate

Let this waterwork of arrogance Shower down on all of us Why are you so tense? I never would've taken you for a friend of this state

I am latent, present but not visible As of yet but please do Crawl in here for a day or two And I promise to be

So demure After this we can go back no more

Let these wings over carry you Levitating limbo known by so few But never would have taken you For a friend of this state

I am latent, present but not visible As of yet but please do Crawl in here for a day or two And I promise to be

I am latent, present but not visible As of yet but please do Crawl in here for a day or two And I promise to be

So demure After this we can go back no more

I am what you call Present but not visible

Present but not visible Pull yourself together Tiger Lou
