

Seeing You

Tim Minchin

Drove out of town, took a left onto a northbound highway.
Or was it really only yesterday.
If I'd known what now I know maybe I
Would have taken a moment.
Maybe looked over my shoulder.
Maybe she'd a tear.
But I'm here.

A storm rolled in, overwhelm you sometime late this morning.
Think I ignored the warning.

I spent a lifetime seeking signs, reading lines,
Trying to forecast the future.
Always stayed a day ahead.
Well that was the idea.
But I'm here.

I thought I'd seen it all, but sure by now I knew this place.
I swear that I knew every hair, each line upon your face.
I thought the only way to better days was through tomorrow,
But I know now that I know.
Yes I know now that I know nothing.

But I'm here.
And I'm fine.
And I'm seeing you for the first time.
I'm alright.
And I'm seeing you for the first time.
