She's Runnin' Away

Tim O'Brien

When you look out your window and see her runnin' away You start addin' things up, how you let her down Now she's makin' you pay, by runnin' away

It's just like some movie, one you've already seen You're playin' the part of the guy all alone up there on the sc reen

You know what that means

Your sight's twenty Ã??cause you're lookin' behind You only wish you had thought of some thing you could do To ease her mind, instead what you find is her runnin' away

Bury me in a lonesome valley So I can feel the sun goin' up and down And I can hear that old river rollin' And the cryin' wind is the only sound

It takes a whole lifetime to learn how to live To know when it's time to stop takin' And learn you've got something to give, that's how to live

But that's not my story and I'm here all alone
The only thing left is the sound of this house
And me pacin' alone, there's nobody home, and she's runnin' awa
Y

Bury me in a lonesome valley So I can feel the sun goin' up and down And I can hear that old river rollin' And the cryin' wind is the only sound