

Visions of New Dawn

Time Requiem

You take this sacredness for granted
Just to satisfy your love
Is this for real that I am stranded
On this edge of time.

This is the end breaking down the night maybe I'll surrender
Can this be real scattering above this is my life.

You make a lie out of this damage
Closing everything between
And when you smile against the dark side
Visions of new dawn.

This is the end far beyond the sun I will not surrender
Can this be real waiting in the night I feel so weak.

Cause you might see victims of heavenly eyes
Building the power of love
When you have the answer you must be aware
Shadows are the cradle of love.

Can make you chatter out of anger.

Time has come and you must pay
The price I'd never thought you wanted
This is just for real.

This is the end breaking down the night maybe I'll surrender
Can this be real scattering above this is my life.

Cause you might see victims of heavenly eyes
Building the power of love
When you have the answer you must be aware.

This is the end far beyond the sun I will not surrender
Can this be real waiting in the night I feel so weak.

Cause you might see victims of heavenly eyes
Building the power of love
When you have the answer you must be aware
Even though you....
Running from the cradle of love.