

Different

Tina Dico

Hear me out
I have to tell you something
Your endless hesitation wears me out
I know that's just who you are You're... Quiet...

But all that I want
All that I need
Is a little bit of honesty
When it comes to the matter of your inner wishes and wants
Why is that such a problem for you?

Hear me out
I really have to tell you
Your calm preoccupation wears me out
With all that you do and all that you say
It's a little bit too bizarre
You're not giving me one good reason to hold on

Won't you hear me
It's hard enough as it is
Oh baby, you're so airy
It's driving me crazy
Won't you hear me
It's hard enough as it is
Oh baby, you make me worry

We have to try both you and I
'Cause we are different
I'll let it show, you have to know
That I am different
It is up to you, give me a clue
How are you different?
Just reach out to me, just let me see...

Help me out
I really need to know you
Your casual concealments freak me out
What, you think I can't tell?
With all that I've heard, all that they say
It'd be a little bit strange for you to say no
I reckon that's still a problem for you
Ask me out
You could help me on my way
Some sense of empathy is one of those fundamental things
That anyone should know
Yet every time and every way we go
It feels is if I'm always two steps behind

Won't you hear me
It's hard enough as it is

We have to try both you and I
'Cause we are different
I'll let it show, you have to know
That I am different

It is up to you, give me a clue
How are you different?
Just reach out to me, just let me see...

How can you love when you don't know me?
