

Walls

Tina Dico

Do you ever get the feeling
There's something here you're not catching
A spider web of meaning
That you could never imagine
Do you ever get the feeling
You're just a passenger
In a hit-and-run car
Going no where but far
From the accident
Me, I often get the feeling
Things are not how I imagine

There's something behind the walls
These walls
These walls
Hidden behind the walls
There's something behind the walls
These walls
These walls
Hidden behind the walls

Do you ever get the feeling
You're everybody's misunderstanding
It's like you're calling up to the ceiling
And it's these walls that keep answering
Do you ever get the feeling
You're a mystery
You're a secret so deep
Even you can't perceive
What's really happening
Me, I often get the feeling
I'm a big misunderstanding

There's something behind the walls
These walls
These walls
Hidden behind the walls
Here's something behind the walls
These walls
These walls
Hidden behind the walls