

Zambezi

Tinashe

Do you remember the day you said I'll be the only one,
'Cause I remember the way you held my gaze my lovely one.
I still remember stealing all the mangoes from the farm,
Just for fun, just for fun.
You're the one.

Do you remember the day you let me be the only one,
'Cause I remember making love to you under the sun.
By a river underneath the mango tree my love,
You're the one, you're the one.
You're the one.

You're the one.

Do you remember the day the soldiers came with all their guns?
'Cause I remember begging you to leave my love, just run.
Past a river underneath the mango tree my love,
I will come, I will come.
You're the one.

You're the one
