

Trying To Find A Home

Tindersticks

Still trying to find a reason
Still trying to find a home
Just some place to spread my things in
A place from where I can run

Came from so far so silent
You saw the stars above
Your smiling faces cheer up
Take what we never had

The lowered sun
Brings another memory
I held in my head so I can see
Every color you were wearing
Every color in your eyes

Came from far so silent
You saw the stars above
Your smiling faces cheer up
Take what we never had

And I hear you whisper
"Where are you"
And I see my hand upon your skin
I can feel me searching for you
Still trying to find a home

And there'll come a time
When everything's so tough
Everything's apart
Trying to find a home
We're so near, we're so apart
