

Lost Ones

Tinie Tempah

You're only a man
It's only right you let the tears fall
Boy, you're strong but you can't take it all
You just lost ones
You're just a man
Don't be scared to let the angels fly
Just let go 'cause it's your time to cry
You just lost ones
You just lost ones
You just lost ones
You just lost ones

Said that we would never break
Said that we would never falter
I thought we'd make it to the grave
I thought we'd make it to the altar
Let a critical acclaim?
Put your hands on the table where the paper and the salt are
Only thing missing?
Hey, said that everything will kill me
But it would then make me stronger
But in the final of the war we
We wishing we could stay for longer
Baby, it will make us stronger
When the living die every day
You better? go away
And I'm over you and you're over me
And you're overdue and I'm overseas
'Cause I called you names and you phoned police
All men are the same? we arguing along dover street