

Feel Alive

Tiny Moving Parts

Let's all dissolve in a blanket
Fade away like smoke off cigarettes
Wonder what it's like on the other side
I wanna feel alive
I wanna feel alive all the time

Every one disappears some day
You've worn out your morning clothes
Weak-stitched with plume to holes
Nothing will hold you close
Everyone
Have you thought about balance?

The idea of your lake
Standing verse stabbing
I think about it every day
There's only so much strength that could withhold the weight

Let's all dissolve in a blanket
Fade away like smoke off cigarettes
Wonder what it's like on the other side
I wanna feel alive
If I close my eyes, will it reverse the light?
Focus on one thing at a time
Please unwind, please unwind
I want to feel alive

All the time
I want to feel alive
All the time

I must have lost my train of thought
My head derailed before I could even walk
A thought I never knew I thought
A thought I never knew I thought
Broadcast the crawl
Reflective monologue in a situation that doesn't help you
Raw perspective on the story, "How one became two"
My diaphragm collapsing at the sound of each and every move
I still miss you
(I still miss you)

You place your hand on the glass, try to get through
A mirror is only a mirror if you look into
My diaphragm collapsing at the sound of each and every move
I still miss you
(I still miss you)
I still miss you
