Raving Hearts

To/Die/For

How can I exist in the same World with you my brightness -loving you-keeping you Deep in my darkness

There's something in my chest To which thy light bring no rest In silence my heart raves Read the pain from my face

As the day and the we are But love's unconditional Shadows in my heart And innocent-that's what you are

There's something in your chest To which my darkness bring no rest In silence your heart raves I see that pain on your face