Someday Somewhere Somehow

To/Die/For

We're all children until the end We're drifting around with the fire in our eyes We barely see the road behind these flames Where the road turns and where it ends Beautiful thins will turn to rust Meadow of roses is unreal

My brother - my brother! We're from the same blood I'm with you where ever you are My friend - where ever you are my friend With our insatiable hearts We're still here and you are the star

Beautiful thins will turn to rust Meadow of roses is unreal We barely see the road behind these flames Where the road turns and where it ends

Yet comes a day when we'll meet again Someday, somewhere... Somehow
