Woodburning

Toad The Wet Sprocket

Say what I need, I kick you down No I'm fine, don't you hang around And I find myself here in another home Where everything moves so slow So tired

Take the longest day, throw it all away I can't stand it but I can't do anything Every day's the same, nothing ever change I can't stand it but I can't do anything

You should know by now We're all liars Take me where you go Only higher

Take the longest day, waste it all away I can't stand it but I can't do anything Every day's the same, nothing ever change I can't stand it but I can't do anything Can't do anything

Anything you want Anything you want Anything

Take the longest day, throw it all away I can't stand it but I can't do anything Every day's the same, nothing ever change I can't stand it but I can't do anything I can't stand it but I can't do anything I can't stand it but I can't do anything

Here in another home Where everything moves so slow So tired
