

I'm Gonna Break His Heart

Toby Lightman

i drank the water then i drove my baby home didn't know where we were going didn't know where, i was coming from i turned a corner in the rain the wheels started spinning fast sliding all over the road good thing nobody's here to know don't think i'm looking for trouble but i'll do anything, to feel one more beat

i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine
i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine

he read about me in the paper, he knew that he'd be next i didn't bother to call, but had the courtesy to send a text he started running through the night, but my headlight's were too strong i said " baby where you think you're going" with a face so long don't think you can run out on trouble cause i'll do anything to feel one more beat

i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine
i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine

oh i can't sleep alone is there any love for me does anybody know how to do it differently should i keep breaking hearts so i'll keep breaking hearts

i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine
i'm gonna break his heart
to save mine