

Almost You

Tom Beck

I woke up this morning and without a warning I thought of you
I thought you were gone and I finally moved on and found someone new
She lights up my day and she's trying in every way to make me happy
Yeah I guess I should be happy

She's everything I wanted
Everything I thought I knew
She's beautiful she laughs a lot
She even looks a lot like you
But no matter how she loves me
I just have to face the truth
That she'll never be enough
She'll just be an almost you

It's funny how easy your memory can tease me take over me
I push you away and I pray for the day that you disappear
I wish I could give her whenever I'm with her the love that something better
Something like we had

She's everything I wanted
Everything I thought I knew
She's beautiful she laughs a lot
She even looks a lot like you
But no matter how she loves me
I just have to face the truth
That she'll never be enough
She'll just be an almost you

So I try and pretend I don't see you everywhere
And I lie to myself just need some time

She's everything I wanted
Everything I thought I knew
She's beautiful she laughs a lot
She even looks a lot like you
Oooh
But no matter how she loves me
I just have to face the truth
That she'll never be enough
She'll just be an almost you
She'll just be an almost you
