

Broken

Tom Dice

"You and I are over," that's what you told me
I can't accept this, I'm caught in loneliness
The teardrops fall off my face
Oh girl this was unexpected, our love disconnected

Now don't leave me standing here
'Cause baby I'm broken, broken
I can't believe this is over, over
Tell me, tell me what life is worth without you

"You and I are over," 'cause that's what you told me
But I keep hoping you'd be giving in
There's something on with my heart, I have the feeling
It's dislocated, weary-lated

Now don't keep me waiting
'Cause baby I'm broken, broken
I can't believe this is over, over
Tell me, tell me what life is worth without you

I'm broken, broken
I can't believe this is over, over
Tell me, tell me what life is worth without you

I'm broken, broken, broken, broken
Tell me, tell me what life is worth without you
My life is worth more than you
