Tom McRae

Fireworks through the trees
City turns away from me
My hand raised to say
Goodbye, goodbye my love

Wheels roll to the light
Sleep kills fevered night
And it's easier now
It's easier now you're gone

Shadow rise, shadow fall
Deaf to siren call a year has died
A year since I said your name

Burning in the blue
Light comes low and cool
And like your love
There's no heat in this winter sun.

So please let my heart go
Please let my heart go

Walk the world side to side
Place where hidden memories lie
And I buried you there along with your history
Give me sun you give me shade
And seven years of hurricanes
But now my love I'm sundialling my days away

So please let my heart go
'Cause I don't care no more
So please let my heart go
'Cause I don't care no more.
