

Someone To Love You

Tony Lucca

The deep blue rivers of your eyes
Flow straight into your broken heart
Your dream's been compromised
You give all that you can
You're left betrayed and empty-handed
Now it's time you realize...
The fairy tale's deceiving
Lies walking in and out your door
You need to keep believing
There's always someone worth searching for

Someone to love you forever
And never ask for more than the same in return
Someone to love you forever and ever
And never ask for more than...
Forever

Let me climb these walls of stone
Make my way on through the dark
Where you reign all alone
I'll give you all I can
Convince your heart to beat again
Hold you tight until the emptiness is gone
The memories are leaving...
Can't let them haunt you anymore
You need to keep believing
You'll find there's someone worth searching for

Someone to love you forever
And never ask for more than the same in return
Someone to love you forever and ever
And never ask for more than...

As far as your eyes can see
Beyond all space and time
Wherever your heart might take you
That's where you'll find...

Someone to love you forever
And never ask for more than the same in return
Someone to love you forever and ever
And never ask for more than...

Someone to love you forever
And never ask for more than the same in return
Someone to love you now

On and on, let me show my love
Won't ever let you go
On and on, let me show my love
Won't ever let you go
On and on, let me show my love
Won't ever let you go
On and on, let me show my love
Won't ever let you go

Someone to love you
