

Bitter Sweet

Tony Martin

I say to all you people
You think that life is pretty neat
But I can tell you people
That you are wrong if you believe
You think that there's a heaven
And you think that there's a hell
You'll swear that you hear voices
Because that's what the voices tell

Do you see this world as paradise, or
Do you think that god is responsible, for all
The tears that's fallen

I gotta tell you people
That it's all in your mind
All the love and hatred
It's a product of mankind
You've got to live together
Knowing that there's an end
Because there is no heaven
And all that's left is hell

Something is missing
Let these words sink into your mind
Something is missing
Could it be the faith you keep alive

Oh we are, we are believers
What stand between us
The evil night, that's right
The hate remains the fear of dying
No point in lying
That's bitter sweet, bitter sweet

Oh we are, we are believers
What stand between us
That's bitter sweet, bitter sweet
