

Who am I, to reason why, there's no point to all the sorrow,
Ticking faster, the clock unwinds, and the world is near a zero.
o.

Wish I didn't have to sleep, too many demons haunting me,
Fear of dying slowly creeps, the poison of eternity.
If we can't hold or touch or breathe, the very things we need to live,
Then sweet spirit comfort me, help me to enter infinity.

When it's time, don't you cry,
Think of me sometimes, and I won't die.

Can't imagine never seeing, never being, close to you,
Couldn't face the thoughts of darkness,
Without your love to help me through.

When it's time, comfort me,
As I take up my place in the sea, of infinity.

When it's time, don't you cry,
Think of me sometimes and I won't die,
When it's time, comfort me,
As I take up my place in infinity.
When it's time, don't you cry,
Think of me sometimes and I won't die,
When it's time I'll go to infinity.