

Now You've Gone

Tony Martin

Jane is burnin' with angelic fire
Johnny's singing here in freedom's choir
Chasing shadows and causing pain
But we all do it

She gets hurt and he just turns away
Seems relationships are made that way
People talkin' say that's it's a shame
But we all knew it

Thought you'd hurt me for the last time
But it haunts me like an old song
And I hear you sing it all night long

CHORUS

Now you've gone, I can love again,
I can love again
Now you've gone, I can live again

Baby's cryin' got no family name
Johnny's girl she wears the scars of blame
Steals the night to lose the shame
Some got through it

Misty morning fingers blue with cold
Sun is rising over streets of gold
What is life that we should moan
But we all do it

Thought you'd hurt me for the last time
But it haunts me like an old song
And I hear you sing it all night long

CHORUS

Bad love, can bring a man down,
Make him do things he wouldn't ordinarily do,
Your love, can make a man drown but
There's no-one does the things I need you to do
