Sledge-hammered Heart

Totalselfhatred

No more dreams to fulfill – in this life that holds still – I h ave lost the light in my life

Why can't I see - it was all a dream - have I lived in a lie - that I made myself

All the lies behind my smiles - they say that true love never d ies... but you will...

All that we shared feels like a lie - I wish that I could turn back time - to the point when it all was fine

Let me be a part of this dream - all that we used to be I am all alone - when it all falls apart - no one to catch when I fall

All the dreams have faded away - in a world where love has ceas ed to exist

Take my heart and let me die - just take my heart but let me di e
