Well, there's a light in your eyes That's guiding my way to your doorstep And your voice called my name With a sound that I've never known I was a kid in a comicbook-world looking for answers When out of the darkness she came Like a cat on a crown In the middle of the night Doesn't care if it's late Doesn't matter if it's right And I laugh when I think I may never have knocked on your door Last night You turned a frightened little boy into a man without shame Last night We tore the hands off a clock and it read just the same Last night I had a crazy little dream and you turned it all around Last Night We took a chance, we shook it up, and now the world's upside do wn All the fire in your heart And the heat of your touch I'll remember And you're dancing like a flame Perfection in motion It was the masterpiece from the start Only you and I could have rendered And I'll never be the same I'm a cat on a crown In the middle of the night Doesn't care if it's late Doesn't matter if it's right And I laugh when I think I may never have knocked on your door Like a cat on a crown In the middle of the night Doesn't matter if it's late Doesn't matter if it's right 'Cause I laugh when I think I may never have knocked on your door Last night...