We Made It

Bad timing for love: you caught me on your birthday I could feel your heart break into a hundred pieces We were too torn apart, now it seems so senseless And if we're clever, we'll put it together, it may be forever We made it, made it, made it before, I know that we can make it again We made it, made it before, I know that we can make it again Down on my luck, you arrived just in time, my angel Thought you'd given me up, like a rhyme that needs no reason I want you enough to keep my life untangled If we're clever, we'll put it together, 'cos it may be forever I want you enough to keep my life untangled If we're clever, we'll put it together, 'cos it may be forever If ever we'll make it, we're gonna make it girl And I know we can take it, we got to take it, girl If ever we can make it, we gotta make it And I know we can take it...