

Mine Are My Kingdoms

Touch of Eternity

Oh dear mother it's a hopeful dawn
Hear the wind: Silent is its tongue
My arms are weak, I am set to fall
Here's my humble message: Thank you for all

Only if I could change a night or two
Change the winds of winter into a blow

You thought a hero of me
You soothed away the tears
Said; "Son you'll wear a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"
In the dawn of misty tide
From the start to end of time
"You son will hold a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"

Dear mother I'll have my thrown;
I've been set to hold my crown
King's soul is fragile - ready for a fall
The gates are open: Thank you for all!

Only if I could change a night or two
Change the winds of winter into a blow

You thought a hero of me
You soothed away the tears
Said; "Son you'll wear a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"
In the dawn of misty tide
From the start to end of time
"You son will hold a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"

The gates are open
A journey is to begin
I was no noble
Not a hero, not a kind
But once the dusk greets me
I'll be the one singing

You thought a hero of me
You soothed away the tears
Said; "Son you'll wear a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"
In the dawn of misty tide
From the start to end of time
"You son will hold a crown
A crown for yours are your kingdoms"