

if you're looking for a place to hang your head in shame the light is always on so come on in my eyes are too big for my stomach it can't process all that i do a rich diet of endless endeavors at the expense of me and you there's a thousand reasons why I can't open up every combination is one turn off there's no rest for the weak I need a week's rest desperately