

You Were Warned

Toxic Narcotic

history repeats itself its all been done by someone else the poor get screwed by those in wealth while we fight amongst ourselves no one even seems to care warning signs flash everywhere try to tell them everyday feel like there's no hope for change turn a blind eye you were warned ignore the signs, you were told don't act surprised, you were warned when you realize, you were told i have little faith in the human race we're doomed to repeat ourselves and make the same mistakes revolution means one thing and that is to revolve and not a single one of our problems have been solved the only thing that's changed is the weapons that we use and the amount of pollution we produce