

Right Now

Trace Adkins

It might be a tank of gas away
Or just a little place across town
Somewhere we're supposed to be Somewhere that we don't know about
Yeah, we talk and talk too much about someday
Let's not let tomorrow just waste away

Baby there ain't nothing here to figure out
Don't you know the world is ours right now

We could race the sun down to the coast
Watch it disappear into the night
Or pick the biggest closest town
Get a room and get lost in those city lights
Let's go, let's run, let's breathe some different air
I don't care where we're going baby, let's just get there

Baby there ain't nothing here to figure out
Don't you know the world is ours right now
The world is ours right now, right now baby

Right now
That sun is setting
Right now
There's a new love growing
Right now
Are you feeling what I'm feeling right now

Baby there ain't nothing here to figure out
Don't you know the world is ours right now
Yeah baby, the world is ours right now
I feel it now, do you feel it now?
The whole world is ours right now