

The Crawl

Tracedawn

Do you remember the time when we were wandering through the woods and he almost caught us
And when we lay on a silky sunset beach the innocent sparkling water burns like acid on our wounds he left us with

Everything can change a new years day but nothing will No use trying to tame the beast under your own will
It can never quench it's thirst for the trill of the kill
If there only was a limit, if it only could have its fill

Chorus: Your grace true left me crawling
Face down but still falling
Strangled me with that feeling
Scars too deep not healing

You trucked me in, fell asleep with your neck under my hand
But what will be left when the cold morning breeze has blown over this land
What the fuck made you convince me this was the best I ever had Fuck you and fuck your lies, I've buried you both in the sand

Chorus
