

You're Fired!

Tracedawn

You fool

Can't see the irony and travesty of what you believe in Manifesting everywhere that uncontrolled animosity You're on path to your own devastation and the only way out of it would mean that your world would break into pieces

Chorus: Since I cracked your core you have not been the same Since I trapped that whore am I no longer profane? You must have an idea before you make a plan What needs your protection can't be stronger than man

You cannot keep your eyes shut for eternity yet that is what you intend to do Unreason Absurdity Let it fucking be Leaving traces that point to your sick endeavour truth bender, Can you hear the heretic calling for you?
