

Never Gonna Break Again

Tracy Byrd

Seeing you sitting alone
Stranded with your heart broke down
Reminds me of everything
Wrong with the world right now

It seems nobody takes pride
In anything they do or say
They give their word
But it ain't worth very much these days

Maybe, I'm old school, behind the times
But I still believe if a man does something
He ought to do it right

So, when I make love
It's made to last
And when I build trust
It's built to stand fast

Everything I start
I see it to the end
If you let me fix your heart
It's never gonna break again

Whoever had your heart before
Left it in pretty bad shape
If he gave it the time and the care it needs
Well, he did it too late

It's gonna take a little work
But it's nothing I can't do
Piece by piece, I'll put it together back
Better than new

And it comes with my
Lifetime guarantee
Just put your heart in my good hands
And, girl, you'll see

That when I make love
It's made to last
And when I build trust
It's built to stand fast

Everything I start
I see it to the end
If you let me fix your heart
It's never gonna break again

When I make love
It's made to last
And when I build trust
It's built to stand fast

Everything I start
I see it to the end
And if you let me fix your heart

It's never gonna break again
