

Revolution

Trading Yesterday

Open up my eyes,
To dreams that should have died.
I was made for more than this.

Take away my name,
For I will never be the same.
I have not begun to live.

For Eden's sons engulf my eyes,
Bringing my heart to life.

I will be a revolution,
Be a voice beyond these lies,
If it takes my life.
And I will not be lost in silence,
I will not let darkness hide,
This hope beyond my sight.
The revolution.

A criminal's reward.
Is all that I lived for.
Until these broken years were healed.

The shadows of a shattered life,
Only returns to light.
And I will be a revolution,
Be a voice beyond these lies.
If it takes my life.
And I will not be lost in silence.
I will not let darkness hide,
This hope beyond my sight.
The revolution.

For every lie I believed,
Brought me to Him.
For I have been set free,
To live again.
(the shadows of a shattered life only returns to die)

And I will be a revolution,
Be a voice beyond these lies,
If it takes my life.
And I will not be lost in silence,
I will not let darkness hide,
This hope beyond my sight.
The reason for my life,
The revolution.

Using every single breath,
Crying out for hope...

The Revolution

If you'll be my source of strength,
All I'm living for.

For I have been set free,

To live again.