Night Falls

Tragedy

Every last ounce of sympathy, every last bit of emotion Saturated with this bitterness and situations, stacked end on end end on end And tonight there will be no resolve for those who lay awake clutching their children Listening to bombs drop and boots marching down barren streets Soldiers marching down barren streets