Cold Hand of Retribution

Trail of Tears

The time has come to realise The time has come to face it Into the void You tremble as you fall Into the void You face it Still you fear me for purest reasons Still you tremble 'cause vengeance still remains my call You tried to attract me to the void And faced you failure Still breeding lies as you fall Now I'm the one who is standing tall The time has come to experience The time has come to face it Realise Face it I'll crush your visions with arrogant ease I'll demonstrate hatred until your dreams begin to cease To think you could tear me from my throne Was to seal your doom Weak you are standing cold In fear as all my wrath unfolds The time has come to realise The time has come to face it Into the void You tremble as you fall Into the void You face it